New Blood to be Infused Into the Bureau at Police Headquarters.

M'CLUSKY MAY BE RETAINED.

But All the Other Old Byrnes and McLaughlin Men Will be Supplanted.

BYRNES'S EXIT IS MOURNED

Mis O:d Subordinates Fear for Their Chances, While the New Executives Get to Work.

Following close upon the sensations developments of yesterday, President Roosevelt, of the Police Board, to-day announced that a big shake-up would soon take place in the Detective Bureau at Police Headquarters.

The present acting chief of the bureau

Detective-Sergeant George McClusky may be retained in that capacity, bu the other old Byrnes and McLaughiin men, including the accused Inspector. himself, now on trial for extortion, must give way to the new blood to be infused by the new Board.
Radical changes, it is declared, will be ade, as soon as practicable. There was a subdued, even gloomy atmosphere in and about Police Headquarters this morning.

It was the same sort of depression one experiences after a funeral on returning home from the grave of one who has been buried from sight forever.

The retiring of Chief Thomas Byrnes from among the great police family yesterday, seems to have caused this feel-ship the rank and file possessed for ex-Chief Byrnes, or whether it is the foreboding that the new Police Board's uncertain hand will soon fall heavily upon the heads of those of Byrnes's friends only. However it may be, depression

This morning marked the actual and forceful beginning of a new regime at Police Headquarters and in the Police

Headquarters, whose faces have been familiar to Headquarters for many years, are missing in high places almost entirely. But not one of these faces seen in the positions of authority are strange and unknown in the Department, though some of them have tarried in the lower ranks through force of circumstances. Acting Chief Conlin was at his desk early this morning. He found a batch of letters of a congratulatory nature, from friends in this city and from vaof his congratulators, with one ex-ception, he declined to mention. Citizen Train's Congratulations.

Of course this one was from Citizen George Francis Train, who never misses such an opportunity. Train's congratulations came on a postal card. gorgeous with red and blue ink. It read:

"Dear Citizen: Perhaps as life-long friend of your late brother, "Billy" Florence, you must allow me to send con gratulations to "Chief of Spotless Record.' Yours truly, "GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN."

"Citisen" Train also wrote to "Citi-

Inspector Brooks will be in the room formerly occupied by Inspector Conlin, and the adjoining room, made vacant by the retirement of Inspector McAvoy, will be occupied for the present by Inpector McCullagh.

The acting inspectors gave evidence that they were in office to work, not to talk. It is safe to state that they will assiduously prosecute their tasks on the lines planned by President sevelt and his colleagues. The official who lags by the wayside in performance of his duty will pay the penalty with his official head.

The motto hereafter is:

"Work, watch and obey orders!" When the clock strikes 9 A. M. th cierical force is on hand nowadays. They used to drop in at all hours. The Commissioners have impressed this sentiment upon all, civilian and policemen:

"You are the people's servants. The people pay well for your services, and you must work!"

are on hand every morning by 9 o'clock or soon after that hour.

Now that the Police Civil-Service Examining Board has been named the preliminary work looking to the re-cruiting of the ranks of the patrolmen will proceed with rapidity.

The police surgeons will begin the physical examination of applicants for conttions on the police force to morrow wear a policeman's badge have been or dered to appear.

The doctors say they can examin one hundred a day, and at this rate it will require about eighteen days to exhaust the list on hand.

Then the new Cla Service Examining Board will begin its work of examining the mential qualifications of applicants if they pass the physical examination. No promotion will be made, it is said, until after nearly 300 vacancies among the hads of those of Byrnes's friends to behind, is a subject for conjecture by. However it may be, depression sine.

New Regime Begins.

This morning marked the actual and ceful beginning of a new regime at lice Headquarters and in the Police partment.

The commanding officials at Police adquarters, whose faces have been millar to Headquarters for many irs, are missing in high places alter at entirely.

Detective Bureau Shake-Up.

Among the changes at Headquarters will be the reorganization of the detective bureau.

It is pretty well known that Inspector McLaughlin who is on trial for extortion, will never again command the Bureau.

The personnel of the detective force is tion, will never again command the Bureau.

The personnel of the detective force is not satisfactory to President Roosevelt, and it will be generally overhauled. Very few of the detectives now in the Bureau, numbering more than half a hundred, will remain after the shake-up, which will occur at no distant day.

New blood will be infused from among competent policemen now doing precated duty, and the old detectives will have to retire, resign of go out on patrol. George McClusky, the Detective-Sergeant, temporarily in charge of the detective force, will, it is said, be one of those who will be retained. He is a detective of great experience and very competent.
